HERITAGE GENERAL AGENCY CHANGES NAME TO WORLDWIDE FACILITIES, INC.

National... Effective January 1, 2010, Heritage General Agency, a managing general agent and operating division of Worldwide Facilities, Inc. will change its trade name to Worldwide Facilities, Inc. The name change will have no effect on the company's products or services.

According to Davis D. Moore, President of Worldwide, "By combining brands and product offerings, we are a stronger organization with an enhanced value proposition for our customers. Emily Lomax, our General Agency Division Director has done an excellent job in growing our MGA business and we believe the integration of Heritage and Worldwide products and services into a single brand will foster continued growth of our market as well as customer relationships."

"By leveraging our combined product offerings, we can deliver an enhanced package of products and services to our retail partners - including many automated features for program business that will soon be available on our new, enhanced website," added Emily Lomax, Senior Vice President.

There will be no change in staff, offices or contact information other than the Worldwide Facilities Inc. and Heritage General Agency web-sites will be integrated and combined as of 1/1/2010 - www.wwfi.com.

Worldwide Worldwide Facilities, Inc., established in 1970, has grown into one of the largest, private, independently owned wholesale insurance brokers and managing general agencies domiciled in the Western United States. Worldwide markets all lines of Casualty, Property and Professional Liability. Heritage General Agency was established in 1991 and has experienced significant growth as a result of their numerous high quality in-house underwriting authority contracts and their focus on programs.
